

National Council on International Trade Development

NCITD's primary objective is to keep our membership informed while maintaining direct contact with the regulatory policy-makers. By joining NCITD you gain direct access to the policy makers who participate in government and international relations. You also gain access to our membership -- experienced professionals who can provide practical perspectives on compliance with complex regulations

The National Council on International Trade Development ("NCITD") was founded in 1967 as a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing expertise to industry and to government on a wide range of international trade topics. Our current emphasis on export and import regulations extends to U.S. as well as overseas regulations and procedures.

NCITD's diverse membership includes international trade professionals from diverse manufacturers, integrators, assemblers, systems engineering firms, suppliers, universities, freight forwarders, law firms and consultants.

Membership in NCITD is open to any individual or entity interested in international trade policy, compliance and regulatory updates. To determine interest and see the value of our monthly meetings, non-members may attend up to three of our monthly meetings before being invoiced for dues.

BENEFITS OF MEMBERSHIP

Membership Highlights

- A voice in Washington that addresses current export and import regulatory issues through formal correspondence with appropriate regulatory agencies.
 - A one-on-one monthly dialogue with policy makers.
 - A forum to offer informal constructive feedback on "proposed" regulations.
 - Seminars and workshops.
 - Access to monthly meeting minutes.
 - An opportunity to benchmark with member companies.
 - A network of experienced professionals offering practical advice on complex export and import related regulatory issues.
 - A reduced burden in consulting and legal fees.
 - A positive and proactive relationship with government officials through "off the record" dialogue.
 - NCITD's reputation for valuable views on international trade issues.
- NCITD targets and addresses international trade problems. Attendees gain experience and insight while having an opportunity to share mutual interests and concerns with other professionals.
 - NCITD meets in Washington, DC on the second Wednesday of each month, except for July and August.
 - We do welcome non-members at our monthly meetings. After the third meeting attendance as a non-member, you must join NCITD to attend future meetings. To attend a meeting, please RSVP on-line by going to the home page.

Our morning meetings are the second Wednesday of each month (September through June) and typically features speakers from the USG, including:

Commerce Dept.
State Dept.
Defense Dept.
Justice Dept.
Energy Dept.
Treasury Dept.
Homeland Security
Congress
World Bank Group
Foreign Governments

NCITD membership allows your company to send more than one representative of your company to any of our meetings. Participation provides many benefits to member companies.

Meetings cover many trade issues relating to:

- Export Administration Regulations (EAR)
- Export & Import Licensing
- Export Management Systems (EMS)
- Antiboycott Compliance
